PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to the 25th anniversary of Nova Southeastern University's (NSU's) Celebration of Excellence. This prestigious event serves multiple purposes, including celebrating NSU's achievements, honoring those among us who have excelled in community service, and inducting new members who have donated $1 million or more in support of our mission into the Shark Circle.

In this last quarter century, the Celebration of Excellence has grown significantly from its origins as a local event that honors community leaders. Over time, it has added the induction of Shark Circle members, appropriately recognizing individuals and corporations that have helped to advance NSU and its students through their generous gifts. In addition to the Shark Circle, NSU has multiple giving societies, such as the President's Associates, as well as the Fellows Society, whose members have all given cumulative gifts of $50,000 or more.

In 2010, when I first became NSU's president, and with Guy Harvey's recommendation, we commissioned internationally renowned wildlife sculptor Kent Ullberg to create the mako shark statue outside the Don Taft University Center. At that time, I also had Kent create a smaller version of that statue, a maquette, with a goal of gifting 100 of these mako sharks to donors who would give more than $1 million to the university.

I am happy to report that we have exceeded that goal and have had to increase our order to 114, so we can accommodate the growing number of Shark Circle members—a testament to NSU approaching 92 percent of our goal of $1 billion in external funding in 2025. Have no fear, for anyone wanting to obtain a shark maquette before the end of this campaign, we will have one for you as well.

Thank you to everyone in attendance who has donated to NSU over the years. Your dedication and generosity have supported our students and faculty members on our journey toward recognition as a preeminent university.

2024 PRESIDENT'S AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN COMMUNITY SERVICE HONOREES

Joel Hochberg (posthumously) and Albert Miniaci

Nova Southeastern University (NSU) proudly presents the 2024 Excellence in Community Service Award to Joel Hochberg (posthumously) and Albert Miniaci. Albert Miniaci, who is a member of NSU's Board of Trustees; his wife Beatriz; and Joel Hochberg have generously made multiple gifts to NSU and other community causes. Most recently, the Miniacis and the family of Joel Hochberg have ensured that the NSU Razor's Edge Scholars Program will continue by endowing the Razor's Edge Scholarship Fund.

Joel Hochberg was the co-founder of Rare Ltd., a well-known, British video game developer that was started in 1985. He is considered a pioneer in the gaming industry for the development of the Donkey Kong game, which was released in 1994. Hochberg and his wife Marcia have been active philanthropists in the South Florida community and are members of the Shark Circle, NSU's most elite giving society level, which comprises Fellows Society members whose lifetime cumulative giving totals $1 million or more. In addition to NSU, organizations Hochberg supported include the Miami Children's Hospital, Jewish Museum of Florida, American Kidney Fund, and University of Miami's Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center. He established the Hochberg Preparatory School for children in nursery school (6 months) through grade 8, on the Beth Torah campus in North Miami Beach. The school has expanded to include the Joel and Marcia Hochberg Middle School on the Posnack campus in Davie.

Albert Miniaci was chief executive officer and founder of Paramount Companies. As an entrepreneur, he had been an industry leader in South Florida for 50 years in hospitality, entertainment, coffee, payphones, ATMs, amusement, and real estate development.

The Miniaci family has had a great philanthropic impact on the South Florida community. As director of the Alfred and Rose Miniaci Foundation, Albert Miniaci continues in the footsteps of his mother and father, funding programs that, among other things, expose local youth to the performing arts. Through his philanthropic endeavors, Miniaci has helped shape the future of Fort Lauderdale and improved the lives of thousands of children and families in need. He and his family have provided major philanthropic support to the Boys & Girls Clubs, Community Foundation of Broward, St. Thomas University, Hispanic Unity, Ann Storck Center, FLITE (Fort Lauderdale Independence, Training, and Education) Center, Slow Burn Theater, Junior Achievement, and Broward Center for the Performing Arts, to name just a few. In 2004, Albert Miniaci was inducted into the H. Wayne Huizenga College of Business and Entrepreneurship Hall of Fame.

The NSU Razor's Edge Scholars Program, named after NSU's mascot and designed to provide participants with the NSU edge, offers unique, hands-on experiences inside and beyond the classroom through innovative cocurricular projects and opportunities. The program has five tracks: leadership, research, global affairs, shark teach, and shark talent. Each year, a maximum of 20 students are recruited into each of the five Razor's Edge tracks for a total of 100 Razor's Edge students. These four-year residential programs at NSU are a perfect complement to any career path—health care, humanities, technology, business, education, and more. Students say that the residential aspect of the program brings everyone in the program closer together. The connections built in Razor's Edge become a strong career network—and help build lifelong friendships. And since every program awards a $25,000 scholarship, participants can focus more on preparing for their future and less on how to pay for it.

Mr. Milton L. and Mrs. Barbara Jones

Milton Jones and his wife Barbara are dedicated supporters of Nova Southeastern University. They own Milton Jones Development Corporation, where they develop apartments, industrial parks, office buildings, shopping centers, and warehouses. The luxury garden apartment complex on Sistrunk Boulevard is the highlight of the Jones' business achievements.

The couple attended Florida A&M University and graduated in 1963. After earning his degree, Milton Jones enlisted in the U.S. Army and served from 1963 to 1966, training to become an officer. The Joneses have two children, Sean and Daphne, as well as four grandchildren, two of whom are alumni of NSU University School.

Jones is passionate about philanthropy and donates his time and resources to enhance the community. He provides philanthropic support to several organizations and has received recognition from the Broward County Board of County Commissioners, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The couple is also a major donor to the Broward Performing Arts Foundation. Jones has been a member of the NSU Board of Trustees for many years, as well.

In addition to being the other principal of Milton Jones Development Corporation, Barbara is a real estate broker and is involved in multifamily properties and shopping centers. She is a member and former chair of the Broward Center for the Performing Arts Authority.

Milton and Barbara Jones have donated nearly a million dollars to support the endowed Milton L. and Barbara H. Jones Scholarship at NSU. The scholarship supports NSU students in financial need who have demonstrated service to the Black community and are U.S. Army ROTC cadets.

Mrs. Barbara T. and Mr. Michael Landry

Barbara Trebbi Landry and her husband Michael Landry are steadfast supporters of the university. She is a member of NSU's Board of Trustees and the Susie and Alan B. In 2021, Landry was appointed as a trustee for the Committee for Economic Development, a Washington-based, business-led policy center. She previously served on the Broward Public Library Foundation and as president of the CFA Society of South Florida. She graduated from the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Science in 1987 and from the London School of Economics and Political Science with a Graduate Diploma in Finance in 1988.

For the past five years, she has served as a corporate director of BrightSphere Investment Group, a diversified asset management company with $120 billion under management, which trades on the New York Stock Exchange. In addition to chairing the Compensation Committee, she also serves on the Audit Committee as a qualified financial expert, and on the Nominating and Governance Committee, which she chaired in 2018.

As the senior partner of a $13-billion asset management firm, Landry spent 30+ years in institutional investment management, including 18 years at Mercator Asset Management LP. During her tenure there, assets under management grew from $2 billion to a peak of more than $13 billion. For three decades, she traveled to more than 60 countries throughout the world, developing in-depth knowledge of politics, economics, markets, and companies.

Along with her husband, she is co-owner of the award-winning Pillars Hotel & Club, a Fort Lauderdale boutique property. The Pillars Hotel & Club is a member of the Small Luxury Hotels of the World Group. The Pillars received the #1 rank for 2024 for Best Dining Experience in North America and the Caribbean from Condé Nast for the second year in a row.

Mr. Michael and Mrs. Lainie Zager

Michael and Lainie Zager are committed supporters of Nova Southeastern University. They have three sons, all of whom graduated from NSU University School (USchool). Michael Zager is a member of NSU's Board of Trustees, as well as of the Susie and Alan B. Levan NSU Ambassadors Board, and was previously board chair of the NSU University School Advisory Board. He also graduated from USchool and is a past recipient of NSU's Distinguished Alumnus Award.

Zager started his career as a financial service professional in 1991. He graduated from Boston University's School of Management with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration the same year. He is founder and chief executive officer of Z Wealth Solutions, a boutique financial services firm located in Weston, Florida. A recognized industry expert, Zager brings more than three decades of experience and insight to the company. His clients are high-net-worth individuals, including athletes, attorneys, business owners, financial executives, physicians, and other professionals. During his tenure at Z Wealth Solutions, he has successfully implemented his vision for a financial services firm that assists businesses and individuals in the areas of business insurance, charitable giving, employee benefits, estate analysis, executive compensation, insurance planning, and retirement plans. He has lectured both nationally and abroad and has been a recipient of many industry awards.

Passionate about giving back to the community, the couple established an endowed scholarship at USchool for academically talented and community-minded rising Upper School students. The Zagers are also strong supporters of Feeding South Florida, the Jewish Federation of Broward County, the Jason Taylor Foundation, and the United Way of Broward County. Zager has assumed various leadership roles within the community, including at the Jewish Federation of Broward County and Temple Dor Dorim.

Mr. David and Mrs. Cathy* Husman

Born and reared in Chicago, David Husman, J.D., is the founder and chairman of Heartland Real Estate Partners. He attended the University of Illinois—Navy Pier and graduated from law school at DePaul University. Husman was also a co-founder and former board member of both the Affiliated Bank Group and MB Financial, Inc., one of the largest commercial banks in Chicago, which later became Fifth Third Bank.

Husman met his wife Cathy in 2000, and the couple was married in 2003 in Chicago. Cathy Husman, mother to one daughter, served as executive vice president for the Hard Rock Cafes. She later owned and operated two prominent restaurants in Chicago: Old Carolina Crab House and Widow Newton's Tavern.

After getting married, the couple was inseparable—they traveled extensively, visiting 57 countries in less than 20 years. They worked together and enjoyed spending time with their grandchildren.

Philanthropically, Husman is a benefactor of The Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He donated the Yitzhak Rabin Science Building to the university in memory of his parents, Irving and Gertrude Husman. The couple also donated the Husman Promenade, located in the university quadrangle in Mount Scopus, Israel.

The Husmans developed ties to NSU after she was diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) in 2021. They were referred to Eduardo Locatelli, M.D., M.P.H., neurologist and founding director of the NSU Health Neuroscience Institute and ALS Center in 2022.

"Dr. Locatelli is a true scientist," Husman said. "He's not financially motivated. He is a true humanitarian. What he did to treat my wife was more than exemplary, and I have full confidence in his leadership of the ALS Center at NSU."

The Husmans' contributions to NSU led to their induction into the Fellows Society as Diamond Shark Circle members. In recognition of their transformational gifts, three NSU Health endeavors were named for the Husmans: the David and Cathy Husman Endowed Chair for Neuroscience, the David and Cathy Husman Neuroscience Institute, and the Cathy J. Husman ALS Center. In addition to his investment in NSU Health, Husman donated his extensive collection of oriental art to NSU, which will be permanently housed in the Cathy J. Husman Fine Arts Gallery in the Alvin Sherman Library, Research, and Information Technology Center. He also donated the complete catalog of prints, contact sheets, and negatives of the late Marc Hauser, American celebrity portrait photographer, to NSU's Farquhar Honors College.

Cathy Husman passed away in February 2023. "She was beautiful inside and out," Husman added.

* Deceased

President George and Mrs. Jana Hanbury

George L. Hanbury II, Ph.D., is the sixth president of Nova Southeastern University, the largest, not-for-profit, private university in Florida. He assumed the role of president in 2010 and CEO in July 2011, with the support of his wife Jana Hanbury.

One of his first accomplishments as president was to refocus the university's mission and vision and lay out eight core values to guide the university into 2020 and beyond: Integrity, Academic Excellence, Community, Diversity, Innovation, Opportunity, Scholarship/Research, and Student Centered. Under Hanbury's leadership, NSU became one of only 37 universities in the nation to hold the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching's dual designation of both Community Engaged and High Research Activity.

Prior to his appointment as president, Hanbury served NSU for 12 years as executive vice president and chief operating officer. Before entering higher education, he led a successful, 30-year career as city manager of the cities of Fort Lauderdale, Florida; Portsmouth, Virginia; and Virginia Beach, Virginia. He holds a B.S. from Virginia Tech, an M.S. in Public Administration from Old Dominion University, and a Ph.D. in Public Administration from Florida Atlantic University. The couple met in Virginia, where Jana was a nurse. During their time with NSU, she has served on the Alvin Sherman Library, Research, and Information Technology Center's volunteer board to promote literacy, as well as championed cancer research.

Hanbury has been honored by many organizations, including being named as a South Florida Business Journal Ultimate CEO in 2020 and 2014. Additional accolades include the 2023 Boy Scouts of America Lifetime Achievement Award, 2019 Guy Harvey Conservation Award, 2017 Junior Achievement Business Hall of Fame Laureate, City of Fort Lauderdale Walk of Fame inductee, 2015 Sun Sentinel Excalibur Award, Fort Lauderdale's 2013 Downtowner of the Year, and many other community-related awards. He also serves on numerous boards, including the Greater Fort Lauderdale Alliance, the Broward Workshop Executive Committee, the Economic Council of Palm Beach County, the Business Development Board of Palm Beach County, the Miami-Dade Beacon Council, the Florida Council of 100, and the Sunshine State Conference.

Hanbury has been certified through the Senior Executive Institute at the University of Virginia and has been recognized for his leadership by service organizations, city councils and commissions, and chambers of commerce across the nation. He has lectured throughout the country to various executive groups on topics such as leadership, public policy, the council/manager form of government, economic development, executive motivation, and public speaking.

Scott Colton and Michael Kelly

Scott Colton and Michael Kelly are longtime NSU supporters. They are proud to leave a lasting legacy for future generations of Dr. Kiran C. Patel College of Osteopathic Medicine (KPCOM) students.

Originally from New York, Colton attended Florida Atlantic University, where he received his bachelor's degree in journalism/communications. In 1999, he began a 22-year stint as KPCOM director of medical communications and public relations, which allowed him to interact with wonderful colleagues and students and create enduring friendships. In 2021, Colton transitioned into his current role as senior editorial director in the Office of Printing and Publications. The 25 years he has spent as an NSU employee have been the most fulfilling of his career.

Kelly moved from Georgia to South Florida in 2000 to work for the Comprehensive AIDS Program, where he coordinated various fundraising events. He went on to teach social studies at several Broward County schools, including four years at NSU University School. During his 20-year teaching career, he received two teacher of the year awards. Kelly returned to fundraising in 2022, working in donor services at the Community Foundation of Broward, where he earned his certification in fundraising management from Indiana University. He currently serves as associate director of development at Goodman Jewish Family Services.

Colton and Kelly, who have been a devoted couple for 23 years, have forged a special bond with NSU over the years and hope their legacy gift will help the KPCOM and its students prosper for many years to come.

Eileen Doran Esler and her husband John have five children: Sharon; John, Jr.; Matt; Dan; and Jennifer. They have 13 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren.

The Esler family honor her and her life's work as a registered nurse in health care through their generous support of the Eileen Doran Esler, RN Endowed Scholarship, which is not only changing the lives of NSU nursing students, but also the lives of the patients and the communities they will someday serve.

The couple's daughter, Sharon Esler Sullivan, began the family's philanthropic journey at NSU in 2012, when she was NSU's director of special events, alumni relations, and community partnerships and founded the first NSU scholarship in honor of her mother as a Changing Lives Scholarship. Over the years, Sharon shared the story of her gift with her family, and soon her father, sister, brothers, and extended family helped endow the scholarship to honor Esler in perpetuity. There are now three generations of family members supporting this endowed scholarship.

Sharon now lives in Charlotte, North Carolina, with her husband Larry. They are owners of Renewal by Andersen of the Carolinas, although she remains active at NSU as co-chair of NSU's nursing advisory board.
